CLUSTERS

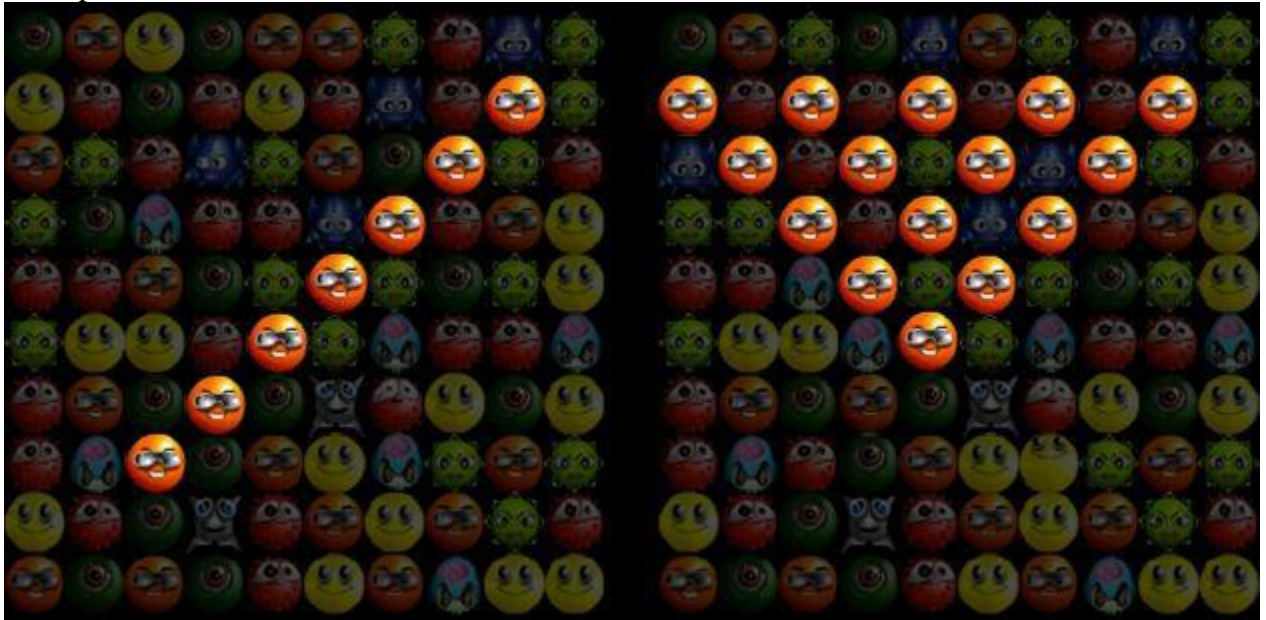

A cluster is composed of at least six identical avatars connected either horizontally or vertically.

Examples of clusters:

Diagonally connected avatars cannot be used to make a cluster.

Examples:

NOTE : These examples are not exhaustive.

HOW TO PLAY

Click on BET. All 100 avatars fall in a new order into the game board. Here is what happens if the new avatar arrangement contains a cluster:

An 14-avatar cluster.

The avatars in the cluster disappear, leaving free spaces.

Avatars that are already in the board fall into the free spaces.

New avatars fall into the remaining free spaces.

Your winnings are shown to the right of your game board. The game ends when you have no more clusters.

PROGRESSIVE JACKPOTS

A progressive jackpot is a prize that increases with each eligible bet made by players in Real Play Chain Reactors 100 games, until it is won, at which point it begins again at its minimum amount (see below).

A minimum bet of $1 is required to be eligible for the progressive jackpot, which can only be won with clusters composed solely of 🗿 avatars.

In order to win the Mini progressive jackpot (minimum amount of $100), you must obtain a cluster totalling between 35 and 39 🗿 avatars.

In order to win the Midi progressive jackpot (minimum amount of $500), you must obtain a cluster totalling between 40 and 44 🗿 avatars.

In order to win the Maxi progressive jackpot (minimum amount of $5,000), you must obtain a cluster totalling 45 or more 🗿 avatars.

When a player bets an amount equal to or greater than the minimum bet required to become eligible for the Mini, Midi or Maxi progressive jackpots ($1), 3% of the bet is collected and added to the progressive jackpots, at the rate of 1% per progressive jackpot (Mini, Midi and Maxi).

The probability of winning a progressive jackpot is independent from the player's contribution to the jackpot.

The Chain Reactors 100 progressive jackpots are offered only in Real Play mode. The above indications and limits apply.
